In this agenda, there were questions raised by the unitholders as follows:

Ms. Somjin Danprasertsri, the unitholder attending the Meeting in person, asked in accordance with the note to financial statement in note 7 showing the securities with an amount of 819 million baht being invested in bonds or state treasuries whether the investment returns were low and whether the unitholders receive the same amount of return on investment that they were informed.

Mr. Anuchit Katetrakul answered that based on the note of the financial statement as mentioned, the Fund took the liquid assets to pay back as dividends to the unitholders in each quarter; however, at the end of the financial statement of December 31, 2022, the assets and the debts of the fund would be realized at that day as well. As such, the day before, the fund announced that it would pay dividends in each quarter, which the consideration in the fourth quarter, excluding the dividends the fund paid recently, around 400 million baht. The Management Company will manage the assets of the unitholders as well as it can. Before the dividends were being paid, the Management Company would provide the benefit for the investment under criteria prescribed by the Law.

Ms. Orawan Chawanarukrat, the unitholder attending the Meeting in person, asked that in the long run, whether the Fund can reach the dividends and the capital returns achieve the goal.

Mr. Pakawat Methetrairut answered that the dividends and the capital returns relate to the Availability Payments each year until the investment contract expires in 2035. Hence, if the Availability Payments are by the plans or any estimation, then returns will be as they were estimated.

Ms. Orawan Chawanarukrat, the unitholder attending the Meeting in person, asked whether the Unitholders can receive the return on the capital investment in full amount.

Mr. Anuchit Katetrakul answered that the dividends payment and the capital reduction rely on the income and expense of the investment on the Availability Payments, which will expire on July 2035. Hence, if the Availability Payments are by the plans or any estimation, then returns will be as they were estimated.

However, the Management Company cannot confirm the correctness of the analysis because it is based on the future situation. The Management Company and EGAT are considering and examining the progress of the North Bangkok Power Plant Block 1 to generate the most efficient outcome. Now, there is no situation to cause the estimation to deviate. Hence, if the fund could maintain the Availability Payments, the returns may still be as estimated.

Ms. Nuchanat Yangchana, the unitholder attending the Meeting in person, asked when will the duration of the fund mature. If there is a decrease in maintenance expenses, this circumstance may affect the dividend payment.
